A few thoughts:

Note typo in final paragraph – manager is missing some letters.

Hi Carolyn.

I think your revisions along with Mary's look good. While the letter is still a bit heavy with technical info, I have no suggestions for revisions. It seems that the problem is that the PRPs disagree with your conclusions and maintain that it is all about background and indoor air sources.

Sorry, Carolyn, I've been out awhile. Will be back tomorrow and can review / catch up then if okay.

Jim, could you let me know when you'll have a chance to take look at this? This is the latest version with Mary's input.

Thanks

Hi Carolyn –

There is more than one way to express risk information, so please let me know if you want more or less explanation. It is important not to say acceptable risk to the public. I am available Monday morning if you want to say things differently.

Mary

PS I used redline strikeout on this version; I was not able to view the track changes because I don't have that skill.
